LIVED ALONE IN A SHANTY.

James Nicholson, an Injured Teamster, Wanted No Medical Aid.

James Nicholson, a teamster employed by J. Q. Adams, house mover, was injured while attempting to load timbers on his wagon near the stock yards yesterday. One of the timbers was raised from the ground on a screw-jack. Nicholson's horses became frightened and he started forward, intending to grab the reins. The timber fell and knocked him down. It fell across his abdomen. Mr. Adams was sent for and brought the man to the city. Nicholson has been living in a shanty in Adams's yard, at the corner of Mississippi and Maryland streets. Nicholson insisted he was not badly hurt and said it was unnecessary to call a doctor. He was left alone, After an he became unconscious and remained in that condition for some time. Late in the afternoon a friend who heard of the accident went to see him and found him suffering much. The friend wanted to go for a doctor, but Nicholson still in-sisted he was not in need of medical aid. About 9 o'clock last night he was suffering so severely that his friend determined to send for a doctor and telephoned to the City Dispensary. Dr. Dunning went to attend the case, He found Nicholson badly bruised about the abdomen, with the pelvic bone fractured. The man has been living alone in the shanty, and said he has no relatives. He was removed to the City Hospital. He is in a critical condition, not having received medical treatment sooner.

SYMPATHY AT ATLANTA.

Governor Matthews Feels the Kindness of the Southern People. Myron D. King, the Governor's private secretary, says the Indiana Centennial Commission is receiving much attention from the management of the exposition at Atlanta. They have been tendered the freedom of the clubs and the entire city. Speaking of the bereavement of the Governor and his family and the sympathy shown them in Atlanta, he said: "They extended every possible aid to the Governor was nothing left for them to do. Mr. Mat-thews and his family will always hold the people of that city in tender memory."

Gone to Philadelphia.

Governor Matthews left for Philadelphia at 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He will reach that city to-day at noon, and will probably start for home as soon as he has his Cuban address to-night. He is expected home to-morrow night. The banquet and other entertainments that had been arranged will be dispensed with.

GAS METERS TOO FAST

J. R. MAY, AN INSPECTOR, MAKES AN OFFER TO THE SAFETY BOARD.

Claims Consumers Pay Too Much Health Board Will Ask for a $30,000 Appropriation.

The illuminating gas question, as concerned in the finances of the city, was considered at length by the Board of Safety last night. J. R. May, a gas meter inspector, was before the board asking that he be granted the privilege of testing the meters in use around the city buildings, offering to do the same for $3.50 per meter. Mr. May stated that the average length of life of a meter is from two to three years, while employed for ten or twelve years. He said the tendency of a meter after long usage is to get "fast," and the consumer pays for more than he receives. Mr. May produced letters showing where he has found a number of errors in this city and in one case he obtained a rebate of $90 from the gas company. Mr. Maguire, president of the board, favored the testing of the city meters. The board thought, however, it had no power to authorize the inspections, so the meter inspector was dismissed with the promise that the matter would be talked over and the tests made, if possible.

In the same connection the gas bill for last month came up. During the month of October the meat market building, Tomlinson Hall and police headquarters used gas to the value of $321.38, as measured by the meters of the gas company. The bill is the highest it has been for a single month in years. Mr. Maguire attributed it to the possibility of fast meters. Richard Herrick, clerk of the board, had previously written a letter cautioning all employes of the city to be more economical in the use of gas. When the board adjourned, a number of lights were left burning in the board's office. ome one suggested that the doctrine of economy might be applied. "Oh, let them burn," said Mr. Herrick,

The means of spending certain unexpended appropriations for this year caused the board no little concern. Mr. Maguire said no appropriations should be turned into the treasury at the end of the year, and then our appropriations are so small for next year." There is a few thousand dollars in the appropriation for horse feed for the fire department and Chief Webster was instructed to receive bids for the purchase of oats, which are not needed. Mr. Herrick insisted that this be done, for he said little provision it made for feed next year. This year there is an appropriation of $5,000 for additional police telephone service. Superintendent Colbert recommended that this be used, for no appropriation has been made for such purposes next year, and the police for such purposes next year, and the police department is badly in need of more tele-phones. The old board was anxious to put in a modern system but the new board stated, last evening, that no extensive improve-ment could be made. The best which can be done will be the putting in of new telephones, Mr. Colbert made known his plans, which are for the purchase of thirty telephones, to be placed in small boxes, about the city. Mr. Colbert said from his conversation with the telephone managers, it had been understood any contract was to be purely a busi-ness one and should have no bearing on "any franchise question." The Superintend-ent was instructed to go ahead and obtain

John Slattery, a citizen who failed to re-cord his residence, filed a written complaint with the board, of the alleged misconduct of Sergeant Schwab and patrolman Slate. Mr. Slattery says that on one fair afternoon of last June, he and a friend were drinking beer in the rear of a Washington-street saloon. Messrs. Schwab and Slate entered and kicked them out, without coremony or explanation. Mr. Slattery says he made complaints to the former police officials, who scorned him, but now he feels sure that justice will be done. The communication was laid on the table. A number of cases wherein the drivers of the fire wagons are alleged to have been careless were investigated and in each case the driver was found not at fault. WILL ASK FOR $30,000.

Board of Health Wants an Appropriation for the City Hospital. The Board of Health held a meeting last night, at which it was decided to ask an appropriation of $30,000 for repairs at the City Hospital. The question will be brought up at the next metting of the cabinet, when it will be urged that repairs are absolutely necessary. With this amount it is proposed to build a new laundry, add additions to the wards and make interior improvements. The board also decided to appoint another inspector. Sanitarian Ferguson stated the board is allowed six sanltary officers, but only five have been employed. The sixth man is to be a dairy inspector, and the board desires to obtain some individual who is acquainted with dairies and can make inspections from a scientific standpoint. Dr. Ferguson was delegated to procure such a man and to examine any and all applicants.

Dr. Morrison made the suggestion and one chief qualification expected is that the new officer be a Democrat. There are 160 dairies near the city and it will keep one man busy ing them. Dr. Ferguson reported to the board that the meat inspector is cooperating with the government meat inspectors. Dr. Ferguson said that the government inspectors cannot control the meat for the local market, but the city officer has the authority to condemn unfit meat. The committee which visited Sellers farm reported the proposed manner of disposing of dead animals by the desiccating company as satisfactory. The question of posting signs in buildings and cars, asking consumptives to refrain from spitting on the floors, was brought up by Dr. Cline. who stated the latest medical researches showed consumption to be contagious. Dr. Cline mentioned the sending of circulars to families in which there is consumption. No action was taken, it being decided to wait until the information which Dr. Frank Wynn has collected on this subject can be presented to the board. There is some complaint concerning the

The pure food exposition at Tomlinson Hall is growing in popularity, and the management is elated over the success of the exhibit. Miss Barrow talked of eggs, and told how to cook and serve them in the daintiest of Last night was grocers' night, and nearly every retail grocer in the city was there with his family. session at Indianapolis, Nov. 20, 1895. THEIR AGENT BURNS COAL

Gas Company's Man at West Indianapolis, However, Collects Gas Bills.

The gas pressure yesterday was lower in some parts of the city and in the suburbs than it has been before in equally cold weather. The suburbs of irvington, Brightwood and Mt. Jackson have a good pressure. A gas main from Noblesville enters the city through Brightwood. The Manufacturers' Gas Company supplies Mt. Jackson. This company seems to have more gas than the other companies. Irvington is supplied with gas through a private line to the Indianapolis company's field. Yesterday morning the gas puffed out in West Indianapolis, Haughville and North Indianapolis. The agent of the Indianapolis company at West Indianapolis burns coal himself, but still presents gas bills. The days of grace for November bills were up yesterday and he met a warm recep-tion when presenting bills. The decrease in supply is explained by the statement that the Indianapolis company has three thou-sand new consumers. The suburbs have plenty of gas at night, but during the day consumers have to add coal and wood. The dealers in such fuel are driving an active trade.

He was gratified to be able to say that but few minor difficulties and differences existed in the lodges of the State. This, the Grand Master believed, is due to the increase in membership and a stronger fraternal interest. The report of the grand master showed that ten new subordinate lodges and thirty-four Rebekah lodges have been instituted during the year. In some cases the grand master refused to grant dispensations, where it was not thought the lodges gave promise of becoming permanent, 'May the rivers of all our lives run joyously on under the blue skies of hope," concluded the grand master, "and between the flower-lined banks of peace, prosperity and happiness until at last we enter the great ocean of eternity. The board of trustees, consisting of John F. Wallick, John A. Furgason, James A. Wildman, George Shirts and B. F. Foster, made a report concerning the new building project, as follows: "In the earlier history of the order in In-diana those who were trusted with its propare to be seen. erty interests laid the foundation of ma-terial prosperity. They builded not for them-selves alone, but for the future good. Your trustees feel that a part of their duty consists in keeping the Grand Lodge advised of the march of events so far as the same affects our property, to the end that, as time advances, our needs, necessities and advantages can be properly cared for. Since the present Grand Lodge building was erected, Indianapolis has progressed from an ordinary town to a pretentious city, and our order in this State has increased from a mighty company to a mighty army. It need not be stated, therefore, that, with all the wisdom and foresight of our predeces-sors, we have outgrown all the facilities provided by them and the outward physical surroundings have entirely surpassed us. Your trustees have no opinion at this time as to what, if anything, should be done coacerning the present Grand Lodge Hall. But, as various views have been entertained by members upon that subject, we deem it best for the information of the Grand Lodge to submit such knowledge as we have on the submit such knowledge as we have on the subject for consideration at such future time as the Grand Lodge may direct. The opinion of an experienced architect is to the effect that the present building cannot be successfully remodeled. This reduces the question, therefore, to two propositions: sleeper and chair cars will run on night shall we build on the present site a new and modern building, or shall we sell the property we now own and with the proceeds buy cheaper ground and erect a new building there. It is apparent that the revenues of the present building are not commen-surate with the value of the property and yet such income is the best that can be obtained under present conditions, But, whether increased revenues can best be secured by building upon the present site or by puilding elsewhere is a subject for the careful consideration of those interested in the property. But whatever may be done let us walk in the footsteps of our distinguished and faithful predecessors, and so take advantage of our opportunities that the generations to come shall have as good cause to rejoice over our wisdom as we have over the wise conduct of those who have gone

The trustees' report did not come up for discussion. To-day the Grand Lodge will meet to elect officers and it is expected that there will be spirited competition.

UNDER AN IRON COLUMN.

Two Men Seriously Injured at M. H. Spades's New Building.

Two serious accidents occurred in the new building being built by M. H. Spades on West Market street, adjoining the Windsor Block. A heavy iron column with wooden rollers under it was being rolled into place. The rollers were moved along the edges of the joists when they suddenly swerved to one side. The joists had not been braced, and were simply nailed at the bottom. The swerving of the heavy weight caused them to collapse and the column fell into the basement. Two workmen employed by the Brown-Ketcham iron works were knocked into the basement at the same time and were pinned down by the falling column.
The men were J. H. Taylor, of 159 Meek street, and James Samuels, living with his parents at 163 Elizabeth street. The men were taken to the City Dispensary.

It was found that Samuels had his right thigh fractured. He was removed to the nome of his parents. Samuels is a colored man. Taylor was more seriously injured. The lower end of his right thigh bone was badly splintered and an artery severed. He was taken to his home on Meek street. It is thought Taylor's leg will have to be amputated. Dr. Marsee has charge of the two cases. He said last night both men were progressing as well as could be expected, out he could not tell just how serious Taylor's injuries would prove.

Spades claims there is no truth in the reports that a weak joist gave way or that the foundation walls caved in. He insists that the accident was the result of care-lessness on the part of the workmen in at-tempting to roll the column across the edges of the joists before they were braced.

Oliver W. Pierce's Recitni. The first of a series of lecture recitals was given last evening by Mr. Oliver Willard Pierce at Y. M. C. A. Hall before an audience of musicians and lovers of the art. The course is historical, and Mr. Pierce treats his subject in a manner valuable both from a literary and musical point. The lecture part was divided in two, the first dealing with the classical school, with the immortal Bach, Haendel, Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven as the composers. He gave a immortal Bach, Haendel, Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven as the composers. He gave a sketch of the men personally, and followed with a description of their style and works. The composers were illustrated on the piano by Mr. Pierce. He played the "Organ Fugue in A Minor," arranged for the piano by Franz Liszt; the "Prelude and Fugue in D Minor," and the "Gigue," from the B flat Partita, by Bach, and from Beethoven the "Sonata Op. 31 No. 3 Scherzo Minuthe "Sonata Op. 31, No. 3 Scherzo Minu-etto," "Sonata Op. 101," and the aria from "El Perifideo." In the first part Mr. Pierce was assisted by Mrs. Lotta Adam Raschig. eth," by Haendel, and Bach-Gounod's "Ave Maria." The second part was the earlier romantic school, with Field, Weber, Mendelssohn and Schubert as the composers. The plano numbers were Field's "Nocture Mendelssohn's "Singing Song" and two Schubert numbers, "Menuett in B Minor," and the "Erkling," arranged by Liszt. Two Mrs. Clara C. Hague, of Detroit.

So Say the People About the Display of Holiday Goods at Paul H. Krauss's.

A wonderland of novelty; a retreat of the choicest gifts is now exhibited at Paul H. Krauss's haberdashery. Ladies and gentlemen's goods are shown in great profusion, and if there be any more genius and skill displayed in the delicate finish and designs elsewhere than is seen at Mr. Krauss's, then the designer should be "medaled," and he ought to trot out the novelty which he has evolved. All the new things in kerchiefs, gloves, mufflers, jewelry, hosiery, tippets, collars and cuffs, ladies' and gentlemen's night robes, mack-intoshes, silk umbrellas, scarfs, bath robes, slippers and towels, and all the other usual variety found in a complete haberdashery
